Advice For Mr. Nixon

Editor of The Times-Virginian

I recently sent the following letter to President Nixon:

Dear Mr. President:

As things are now going, you do not have a chance in 72.

In order to save our country, the following actions, in order, are necessary:

1. Stop all welfare. Let each take care of his own.
2. Stop all union monopolistic activity.
3. The death penalty for all destroyers of private and public property.
4. Stop coddling criminals.
5. Stop trying to make sheep out of goats with the American people.
6. Awaken or revive the American people from their lethargic and apathetic attitude towards the importance and gravity of national affairs.
7. Inaugurate a sensible immigration policy.

I keep my ears and eyes open to thoughts and trends.

Letter To The Forum

Mr. George P. Ramsey, Jr.
Chairman
Local College Board
Central Virginia Community College
Lynchburg, Virginia

Dear George:

I respectfully request that the Local College Board for Central Virginia Community College accept my resignation from the post of President of the College so that I might accept the position of Vice Chancellor of the Virginia Community College System and Director of the State Department of Community Colleges. I would like for this resignation to become effective September 30, 1971; however, I have Dr. Hamel's concurrence, if it be the wish of the Board, to remain in the capacity of Acting President for that period of time required by the Board to make a thorough search for and careful selection of a new President.

I have given this move a great deal of thought and sincerely believe that for my own professional development, this is the proper move at this time. In addition, although I hate to admit it, Central Virginia Community College is ready for a change in leadership. New leadership will bring new ideas and new enthusiasm to keep the College moving in the forefront of the community college movement in Virginia and in the nation.

The last five years have been the most enjoyable in my life. They have been so, because of the men and women I have had the privilege to work with on this Local College Board, the faculty and staff, the student body and the citizens of the Central Virginia area. I would most certainly be a fortunate man if ever again in my life I have the opportunity to work with such a wonderful group of people.

I only hope that during the past five years I have made some meaningful contribution to the development and growth of this College, because it is quite evident to me that my rewards have been great and I leave a much richer man than when I came.

Sincerely,
S. A. Burnette
President

The Local College Board for Central Virginia Community College, with deep regret, accepted the resignation of S. A. Burnette, President of the College.

Pastor Speaks

What Is God Doing?

In recent months many national news magazines have carried articles about the mushrooming spiritual movement among some young people dubbed as the Jesus Revolution. In the pastor's column this month, I want to give you some information and opinions on this movement to help you realize what God may be doing amidst these young people.

The first question you will likely ask is, "Just who are these young people involved in the Jesus Revolution?" A middle-aged Christian couple on their first visit to California landed in the San Francisco Bay area, and the taxi driver who took them about the city dropped them off on Telegraph Avenue near the University of California. A male creature with long, flowing hair and a full beard wearing faded jeans and sandals ambled up to the couple whose apprehension had by now reached the panic stage. The long-haired man smiled broadly and said, "Do you know that Jesus loves you?"

That bearded young person stands for thousands of his peers who are turning from drugs, alcohol, sexual promiscuity, and secularism to Jesus Christ. Many of those who are being touched by this movement come from all forms of the most unimaginable emptiness you can consider. As a general rule those who are being touched most deeply by this spiritual movement are young people, both male and female, who are despondent, discouraged, defeated, dejected drop-outs with little if any spiritual background. They have hit the bottom, and many of them, having hit the bottom, have discovered that only Jesus Christ is able to meet their needs.

It is not true, however, that all the young people who are being touched by this movement are long-haired, bearded drop-outs. In recent weeks this writer attended a youth camp sponsored by area Baptist churches at which a youth choir filled with radiant, reborn faces, sang and told the good news of Jesus Christ. Indeed, this choir of young people had been touched by Jesus Christ and could be called a part of the Jesus movement. Although their hair was a bit longer than my own, many of them were ordinary church-going young people whose lives had felt a deeper touch of Jesus Christ in recent months. Included in the members of this group, however, were some whose lives had literally hit rock bottom and who had been delivered from drugs, drink, and sex only by the power of Jesus Christ.

THE UNKNOWN

Lesson for September 5, 1971

Background Scripture: Psalms 42, 53, 139; Acts 14:15-17; 17:22-31

Devotional Reading: Psalms 111

What is God really like?

When the Apostle Paul went to Athens, he went to a city where men did a great deal of speculating on this question, The Areopagus, which in English we call Mar's Hill, was a place where a group of philosophers met for discussion and debate. Paul went to that hill so he might speak to the men gathered there.

"Men of Athens, I perceive that in every way you are very religious" (Acts 17:22).

The Meaning Of 'Religious'

What did Paul mean by this? Did he mean that he had witnessed their religious rituals and rites? Did he mean that he had observed very pious living in Athens? No, he meant neither of these. What he meant was that he had observed that they were very much preoccupied with the question, "What is God like?" The Greeks in general and the Athenians in particular were known for their great curiosity about the meaning of life.

Sometimes this word "religious" gives us a great deal of difficulty. The reason is that people often mistakenly think that a man's religion is identifiable with a particular religious group or organization. Using this reasoning, we would say that a man who belongs to a church or synagogue is "religious," and the man who does not is not "religious."

But the truth of the matter is that most men (if not all) have a religion of some kind. That is, they have some definite beliefs about the meaning of life and reality. John Bright, the Biblical scholar, has defined religion in this way: "For that to which a man looks for his ultimate well-being, his salvation or his security, from which he derives his standards of conduct – that is his God."

What You Worship

As Unknown

Thus, the question is not whether a man has a religion, but rather what kind of religion he has. Throughout the city of Athens were monuments to many of the gods in which the Athenians believed. At one spot he lived even a monument "to an unknown god."

At this point, Paul makes a very surprising statement: "What therefore you worship as unknown, this I proclaim to you" (17:23b). By this he means that the source of life and reality does not have to be unknown, God CAN be known. No one needs to remain in the dark as to what God is really like, for the message of the "good news" can make him known to us.

That is still Christianity's task, to make God known to men. Even though God is always so much more than all we can say about him, still through the person of Jesus Christ it is his will to make known the unknown and reveal himself to us.
